

We are in the midst of the second semester of classes conducted as part of the Bachelor study in Horticulture module. This is a program attended by students from China. In this semester they have participated in the following courses: Plant Diversity; Vegetable, mushroom and herbs production; Entomology and pest management; Commercial production of ornamental plants; World seed market as well as Modern trends in fruit production. As part of their classes students went to France, where they visited a seed company GRAINES VOLTZ in Loire-Authion (near Angers) in the Loire Valley.

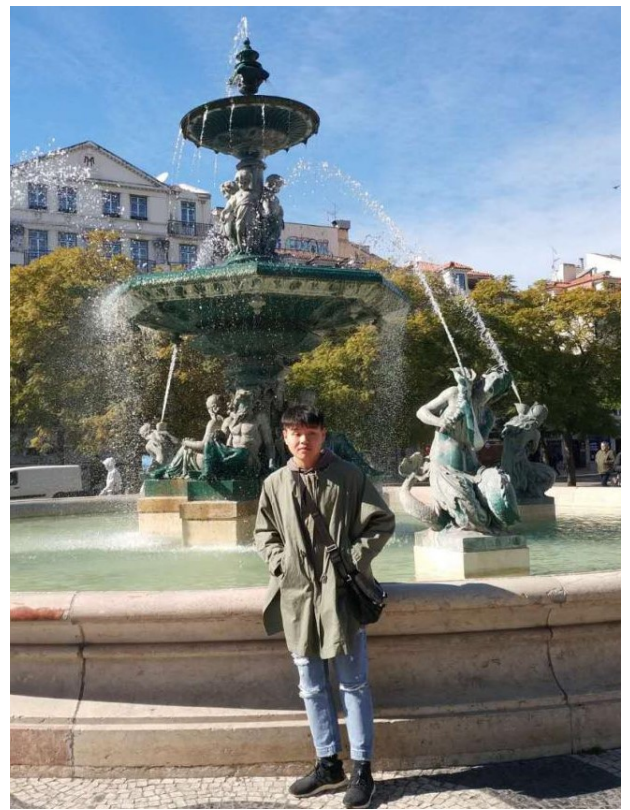

We asked our Chinese students for a short self-presentation and opinion about their studies in Poland, which we enclose below.

Hello! My name is Chen Yan. I was born in Fuzhou city Fujian province. Fujian is famous for black tea. I'm studying at Jilin Agricultural University. During this short stay in Poland I have experienced many things and made friendships with people who came from different countries.

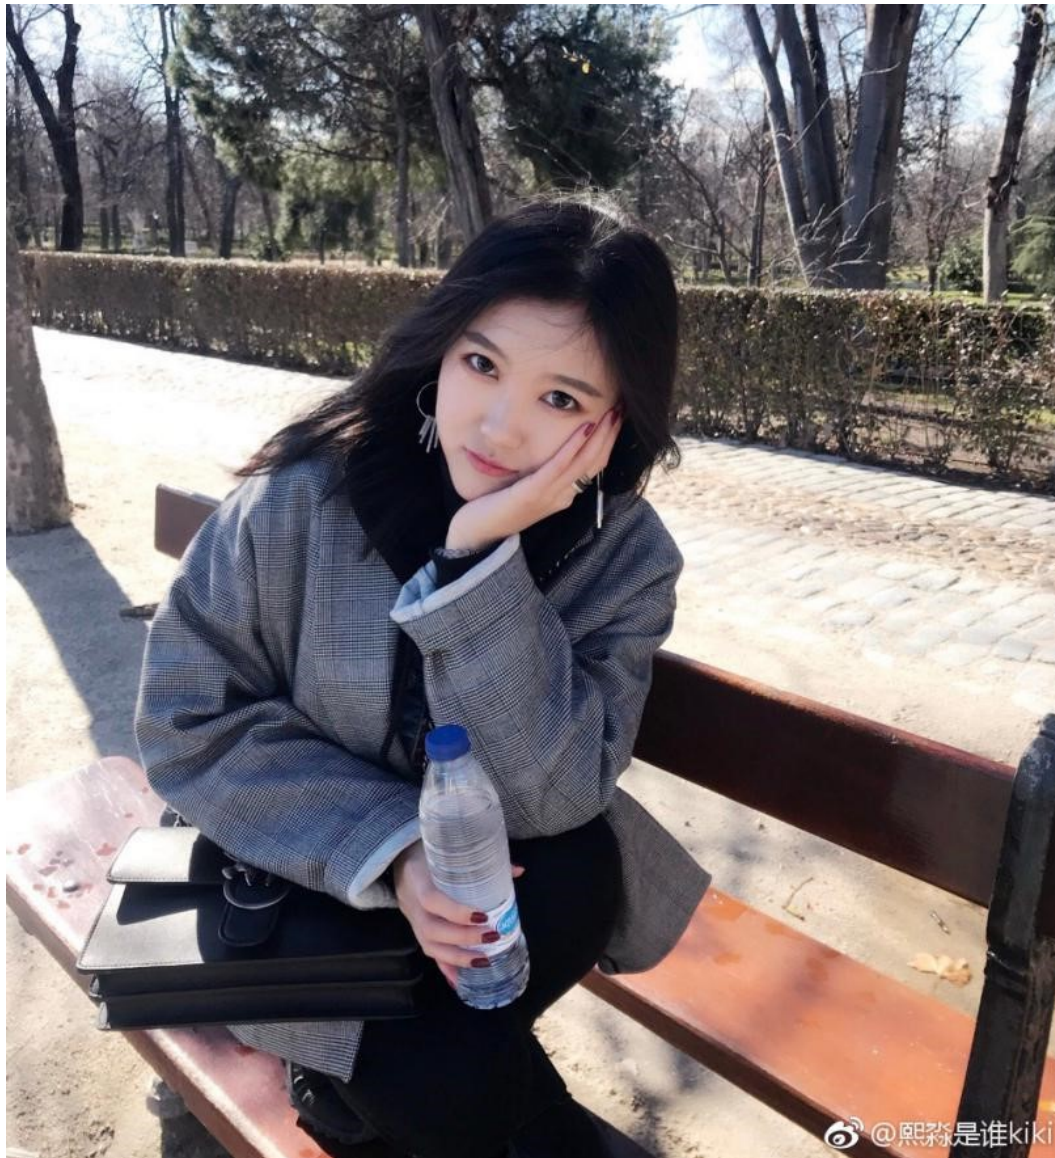

My name is Zhong Peihan. I study at Jilin Agricultural University which is located in Changchun. First I am glad to come to study at University of Life Sciences in Poznań. Although I study here for one year, I believe that I enriched my experience by staying here; my knowledge of English and general knowledge made a great progress. I learnt lots of things not only about study that are very different from study in China. I hope I will have a chance to come to Poland again.

We are Xu Hequn and Liu Hongjiang. We come from China, where we study horticulture in Jilin Agriculture University. We came to the University of Life Science in Poznan as Erasmus students to learn new things about horticulture. It's awesome here because professors are knowledgeable and facilities are modern. We are so lucky because we made a lot of new friends and experienced some funny things in here. The most surprising experience was when the professor Roman Hołubowicz took us to the snowy mountains. It was amazing.

My name is Zhu Xumiao. I am a student of China Jilin Agricultural University. My major is horticulture. My hobbies are traveling and dancing. I like Poland. I think it is a great country. I came to Poland because I wanted to strengthen my English and learn more about gardening. I am very interested in Europe. I would like to visit many countries in Europe.

I was born in Langfang City, Hebei Province. There are 127 plant families in Langfang, comprising more than 400 genera and about 920 species. There are more than 100 kinds of cultivated plants in 11 categories including food crops, beans, potatoes, oil, cotton, tobacco, herbs, vegetables, melons, forest fruit, and pasture. The flower which is a symbol of Langfang City is rose.

Hi! My name is Zhang Haotian. I come from Shouguang city in eastern China. My hometown is the main place of vegetable production in China. I would like to work in my hometown in the future, which is why I study horticulture. I am a student at Jilin Agricultural University. My university is in Changchun city in northern China,. I have come to Poznan for one year. I think, that the natural environment and cultural environment here are different than in China. Thanks to this we can acquire new knowledge and experience new things. This makes us happy :-).
